A stylized illustration of a young woman with dark, curly hair and large, expressive blue eyes. She is holding an open book in front of her, which has the word 'BAMBI' written on its cover. The background is a light green with faint, white, geometric patterns resembling stylized leaves or stars. The overall style is soft and painterly.

Target Audience Feedback

Concerns:

- Would not use unless text messaging was unavailable
- Adding People From Contacts
- Lack of Zoom Option
- No Way to Upload Files From Google Drive (Lack of Integration)

Feedback:

- Would potentially use if it was a desktop app
- Better if it had app integrations
- A clearly-defined use-case is a must for your target audience

How can FYI's marketing be improved to better target this audience?

1

introduce FYI through art community events
and comps

2

integrate into high school curriculum

3

broaden appeal to larger group of high school creatives

Community Outreach

FYI as a platform for School-wide Creative Competitions and Events

Community Outreach

Example: "Activism Contest" from Thinking Nation

STUDENT ART CONTEST
LIBERATION
IN THE LENS OF "ARTIVISM"

To celebrate Juneteenth, Thinking Nation in collaboration with the National Liberty Museum and Youth Advocates for Change will be hosting a contest for students to showcase their interpretation of liberation through art. The top 20 submissions voted on by our judging panel of community organizers, teachers and artists will be displayed at an art gallery for the 2023 National Charter School Conference in Austin, TX this June to honor the Juneteenth holiday. In addition, the top 3 submissions will receive cash prizes and be named a student "artist" of the Year by Youth Advocates for Change.

HOW TO ENTER-
Create an original 2D piece of art on an 8.5x11 piece of paper or cardstock that showcases a Black leader or artist in a state of liberation. This piece can be hand-drawn, painted, or digitally created.

In your submission, be sure to:

- Include at least one photo or drawing of the artist or leader
- Include one quote said by the artist or leader
- Answer the following prompts (300 words or less)
 - What Black liberation leader or artist did you choose and why?
 - How does this quote inspire you?
 - What about their work has inspired liberation?

PRIZES-

1st Place:
$1,000 cash prize and honored as Student "Artist" of the Year by Youth Advocates for Change

2nd Place:
$500 cash prize

3rd Place:
$250 cash prize

WIN UP TO $1,000!

- could've been marketed through FYI to encourage the collaborative aspect of this art concept
- would've helped for students and teachers to make edits and comments on submissions
- encourages working together on the project
- can learn more about prizes and future opportunities

How Well Does FYI Fit In?

FYI's Target Group is High-School Creatives

Current and Emerging Solutions:

- Rocket.Chat
- Yammer
- Google Workspace

FYI's Shift & Advantage:

- Young Creatives At The Forefront of All.
- Be specific about the use case of FYI.
- Re-establish a Creative Brand identity.

Expanding Past the Curriculum and Event Space

Target high school students and educational spaces

Present FYI as a trustworthy platform for managing creative projects

Offer resources and workshops to help students learn how to create successful projects

Build a community of young artists and creators who will continue to use FYI as they progress in their careers

Be specific about what FYI offers.

Highlight features that students value and make the hierarchy of focus clear.

Focus on making FYI a communications app with auxillary support for file sharing and workspaces, instead of a platform that does all three to the same degree.

Re-establish a Creative brand identity.

Refocus aesthetic and brand identity around the freedom of creativity.

This includes the website homepage and social media content.

Re-invest funds to target students.

Invest in community workshops and events.

Develop an iPad and desktop compatible app.

Offer educational discounts.

THANK YOU
